Commenting on the 1st of June, a new tax will be levied on patrons of theatres. Movie patrons pay 1c extra on each ticket. In the regular open house the tax, we understand, is 2c. for tickets under $1.00 and 5c. for tickets of $1.00 or over. This little pay goes to the provincial government. Whether they will issue a special stamp of their own or not it is not known at time of writing.

Rev. H. L. Uglund, father of L.H. Uglund, died at his home in Rocky North Dakota, a few days ago. Mr. Uglund will be remembered by many of the pioneers of Claresholm and district. Henderson, former pastor of the Episcopal church in Claresholm. Mr. and Mrs. Giddings were well known in Claresholm and Carmanagay districts. And often took part in local concerts. Twelve years ago Mr. Giddings was ranching in Meadow Creek district.

Accident to Mr. Carlberg

Rev. C. Carlberg met with a painful accident last Saturday. He was riding his horse when he was thrown from his horse, when through a misstep, he fell head foremost down the stairs. His head was badly cut, and it is thought some of his ribs are injured. Mr. Foss, who is attending to Mr. Carlberg, happened to enter the house shortly after the accident, and secured medical attendance. He is reported to be progressing favorably.

Some criticism has been heard regarding the local gentleman, being left alone, and it certainly does not seem right for a blind man to live in a house with no one to take of him.

We have learned, however, that these have been offered to him in Claresholm, and that he absolutely refuses to accept them.

His only son, Mr. J. Carlberg, from Seattle, who has a beautiful home, visited him a few weeks ago, and did his best to persuade him to return to Seattle with him, but he refused to go.

Mr. Foss visits him every day, and prepares his meals for him, and he says this is all he needs.

Formerly Mr. Carlberg is well protected for, and their is absolutely no need, except for his own choice, for him to live alone.

U. F. A. Notes

At a banquet given by the National club, Toronto, recently, Mr. Cregar, President of the G. G. G. C. and Mr. Cregar of the "Guide" dealt with some of our western problem. Mr. Cregar speaking on the tariff question said:

"The question which the government will be obliged to face and deal with more than any other during the years following the conclusion of the war will be the tariff," predicted Mr. Cregar. The stand which the grain growers of western Canada took in 1910 when they invaded Ottawa was still the position held by them, Mr. Cregar continued. In their recent refusal to give the west the advantages of free wheat the government had not only handicapped the western producers but had injured the best interests of the Dominion.

Mr. Chipman dealt especially with the unfairness to the farmer of the Canadian banking system which in the past had imposed on him rates of interest as high as 12 percent. The spirit of cooperation amongst the western farmers had enabled them to overcome many local difficulties which would be adjusted by provincial legislation. There still remained the difficulties which could only be remedied by federal legislation and which, therefore, could only be tackled by the organized western farmers at long range. "We have not been able to do much with them as yet," he said, "but we must keep the issue before us, and we must be heard with effect in the near future."

The U. F. A. co-operation intends ordering twelve for this year. It is expected that prize will be on his shortly.

The rail road of high wire, recently unbalanced at the elevator, has all been sold out.

The London Times states, that Germany is conducting a new by chemical processes which is said to make a good substitute for oats, and is also excellent for fattening hogs. If Alberta could obtain the secret, the hog business would soon flourish again.

A Letter From the Front

The following is a letter received by W. Shanks from Lieut. W. C. Bryan of the 1st battalion:

Dear Walter:—You have no doubt heard long before this the story of the death of Jimmy Brown, poor old Jimmy, it is just one month ago yesterday that he was wounded. I was with him when he was hit. He was hit in the thigh, I dressed his wound and he had to be for seven hours, in a dug-out under one of the heaviest bombardments ever pulled off on the British front, and old Jim never murmured, and though I knew he was badly hurt, I never thought he would die. But they had to amputate his leg and I guess this shock killed him. He was the best N. C. O. we had in the platoon and all the fellows loved him. It came as a awful shock when we heard he was dead. He died in Boulogne. The morning Jimmy was hit the Germans attacked but we repulsed them, and they started this awful bombardment. It was terrible, it is only a miracle that any of us got out alive.

Did you know Sam Boyce—he was one of the Claresholm boys. Poor old Sam, he was hit by a piece of the same shell that hit Jimmy. His forehead was knocked right out, three of his ribs that night, along with some others, in a shell hole at the lack of the lines. The Claresholm boys have been hit pretty hard; there are only about five of the gallant band left.

I am writing this letter in my dugout and I expect at any minute to accompany it skywards as Fritz has thrown a whole flock of heavy shells fairly close to it.

Well I must close now. I only meant to be a note. With kindest regards to all.—BILLY.

Now that the spring's work is so well advanced, why can we not unite in our efforts to have a picnic or an entertainment of some kind? Many people from town look forward to the good times they spend in the hills, but they seem to be looking in vain this year. Major Lyndon Secures Some Japs

In the recruiting depot of the 13th Mounted Rifle there met, Friday morning, two Japanese and three Russians who had last faced each other at Port Arthur at the close of the Russo Japanese war. These men have signed on with Major Lyndon to fight side by side against the Hunnians, and as they were sworn in the five foreigners compared notes, discovered that they had been in the last great battle together, and one, Ewane Baidurko, pointed proudly to a scar on his left ear caused by a Japanese bullet that had "pinned" him with its side.

Recruiting for the 13th is proceeding nicely these days and on Friday morning Maj. Lyndon signed on 10 men, five of the number being Japs and five Russians.

Maj. Lyndon has received no definite instructions yet as to whether or not the regiment will have to go to the Suez, but among military men the impression prevails that Alvin's old mounted regiment will not go under canvas on the reserve.

"Kick In"

No play of recent times has had so much quivering realism crossed into its various acts as true of that absorbing comedy-drama "Kick In" which comes here for one night only.

No act ever devised has been made more real, no suffering on the part of the stage group more plausible; no story told with less artifice and more genuineness than that of the seven acts of "Kick In" when the harassed unfortunate are trying to get rid of the body of the man who has been shot and then comes from being sent to prison for harboring a criminal, if not for complicity in the crime.

You feel the pressure of the body; you picture the barrel they mention as being available as a temporary resource for it; you imagine the crunch of the weapon in the alley. It isn't exactly pleasant, but it is the greatest piece of drama ever put on the stage and you feel the jolt of it long after you have left the theatre. Will be at the Clarendon open house on Tuesday, June 6th.

Williams v. Bank of Commerce

The following case came before the supreme court at McLeod, on May 17. B. P. Williams, of Clarendon, brought an action against the Canadian Bank of Commerce to recover the sum of $300.37, on wrongful seizure on three different occasions relative mortgages held by the defendants.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce brought in a counter claim on Williams for monies alleged to be due on chattel mortgages and promissory notes.

His Lordship, Justice Walsh, found all the claims made by the bank were in order, with the exception of the seizure of some goods which were sold for $30 less than they were worth. Williams was awarded the sum of $30.00 and $7.50 cost. In the counter claim the Bank of Commerce was awarded the sum of $105.69 and costs.

Mr. J. W. McDougall, of McDonald, Martin and McKenney, appeared for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and Mr. W. H. Campbell, K. C., appeared for Mr. Williams.

Colonel Teddy Roosevelt intends visiting Banff this summer.

W. C. T. U. District Convention

The Calgary district convention of the W. C. T. U. was held in Clarendon May 29th and 31st.

Delegates from nine unions were present. Mrs. McKinney was convention speaker. Mrs. Woodhall of Calgary spoke on local council work. Mrs. Bruce of Calgary spoke on travelers and work.

Mrs. Shaw of Nanton gave a paper on higher mathematics.

Mrs. McKinney addressed the convention on scientific temperance, also on women's franchise.

A pleasing sequel of the convention was a concert given by Mrs. Mackenzie which she accompanied on her guitar.

Further details of the convention will be given by the delegates at the next W. C. T. U. meeting to be held in the lecture room of the Methodist church, June 5th.

At the Forum in Calgary a short while ago, Mrs. Newhall was one of the speakers. When the meeting was open for discussion, a town got up and asked if the bible did not condemn women speaking in public. A lady present responded by saying that if she was a Christian brother she would not think the man, and that if Paul was in Calgary he would be at this meeting to hear Mrs. Newhall.

22,022 Miles

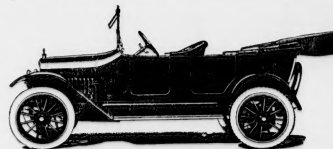

In 44 days, a distance of 22,022 miles, without stopping the motor—that's the longest motor no-stop record in the history of the automobile industry. This record has just been made by a stock Maxwell Touring car. It is authentic, being held under continuous official observation.

For 44 days and nights, this Maxwell stock car was driven over city and country roads, averaging more than 500 miles daily—the engine never stopping, the car stopping only long enough to take on gasoline and oil.

Canadian roads demand an automobile that will "stand up" under the most strenuous conditions—an automobile of power, endurance, dependability.

The Maxwell is now the world's "stand up" champion. And it is finished at Windsor to sell complete at $850. You have no "extras" to buy.
